

Welcome to Nile Bridal&Alterations

It is our pleasure to have you work with us. This guide is meant to provide specific information to help prepare you ahead of your first appointment in order to get off to the best start possible.

Our Mission

To provide you with a clear understanding of our studio's operations & how exactly you will end up with the gown of your dreams.

What to expect at Nile

With more than three decades of experience, we will provide you with service that has truly seen everything in the industry & is still adapting to the latest trends and techniques in fashion. Our studio has been fortunate enough to restore countless family heirlooms from decades past as well as working on the latest creations from designers shaping the industry today.

Your Fittings

The initial consultation fitting will give us our first opportunity to assess the exact needs of your gown & how we will best serve them. As there are endless factors in determining the cost of alterations, this will be the primary opportunity to provide you with a quote for your dress after seeing the design, how it fits on you, the materials being used, and how we will work with it to give you the perfect gown. Subsequent fittings will be determined and scheduled at this time, with the final fitting being as close to the event date as possible in order to make sure we get the best fit for your event. We are only limited by the materials of your gown that are available so we always recommend purchasing extra material with your gown if you are planning any kind of restyling. Make sure to come prepared to each fitting with any undergarments you will wear with your dress, the exact shoes, and any accessories.

Once all services are completed & the total has been paid, we ask that you do a complete inspection of your gown & agree that everything was done as requested by the arranged date before you are take responsibility for the gown upon leaving the studio.
